ADHD, Autism, Dyslexia and Dyspraxia are four of the most common developmental disorders of childhood and research indicates there are considerable overlap between these conditions. With more students than ever being educated in mainstream settings with SEN this brings many challenges too and many teachers and support staff don't feel they have enough specialist knowledge and training. This conference will provide a great opportunity to:

- Enhance your knowledge and understanding on these four overlapping conditions.
- Listen to in-depth presentations from leading experts who make your learning informative & enjoyable.
- Increase your confidence so you can best help the children and young people you work with.
- Learn about best practice & gain practical strategies that you can use in the education setting.
- Learn strategies to promote successful inclusion.
- Network with others.
- Gain a certificate of attendance and download speaker's presentations after the conference, so you can train your colleagues.
- Go back to your workplace re-energised and inspired - so you can really make a difference!
